

FEI DISBROW: BIOGRAPHY

Multidisciplinary artist Fei Disbrow has been in numerous solo and group exhibitions throughout the US and Canada, including features at Gallery Jones (Vancouver), Friesen Gallery (Sun Valley), and the Initial Gallery (Vancouver). She has lived and worked in both countries, earning her MFA in Sculpture from Cranbrook Academy of Art in Michigan. While in Portland, Oregon, Disbrow was awarded a public art grant from RACC, and a residency with the Intermedia Department at the Pacific Northwest College of Art. In Toronto, she was awarded the MST Bronze Award at the Emerging Sculptors Exhibition, at the Canadian Sculpture Centre, and was granted a term in the Guest Renter Program at Open Studios. Disbrow has held residencies at the Banff Centre for Arts and Creativity, the Vermont Studio Center, and is currently a Guest Artist in the Material Matters Research Lab at Emily Carr University of Art and Design. Her work is held in the Portland Art Museum print collection, as well as corporate and private collections. She is currently represented by Gallery Jones in Vancouver, BC and Friesen Gallery in Sun Valley, Idaho.
